Chinese paper in Vanuatu hoped to bridge cultures

The Vila Times is based in Vanuatu's capital, Port Vila. RNZ

The editor of Vanuatu's new weekly newspaper, the Vila Times, says it aims to give more information about China to the people of Vanuatu.

The paper is being produced in both English and Chinese and Nancy Zhang says she hopes it will be a bridge between the two countries.

"We want to give more information to Vanuatu people - what the whole world is like and [to help] develop the economy with more investors coming in to Vanuatu."

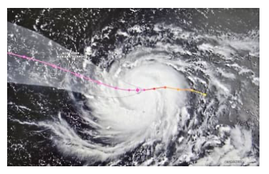
News / Pacific 3 February 2015, 2:29pm

Share

More Pacific View all Pacific articles

Bavi now a life-threatening 'Super Typhoon': Pacific islands warned to prepare
4 July

All Mariana Islands at risk as super typhoon approaches
4 July



Horse-trading begins as New Caledonia provincial presidents elected
4 July

Fears for more conflict in West Papua after American pilot killed
3 July

Ngā Pitopito Kōrero
RNZ's daily newsletter

Sign up for Ngā Pitopito Kōrero, a daily newsletter curated by our editors and delivered straight to your inbox.

Email address

Subscribe

This site is protected by reCAPTCHA and the Google Privacy Policy and Terms of Service apply.

More News View RNZ homepage

Rain, snow warnings take effect for parts of South Island
49m ago

Tenant not liable for dead plants in Christchurch rental, tribunal rules
57m ago

Live: NZ Warriors v Canterbury Bulldogs, NRLW
2h ago

Waiata 100 2026: New Zealand counts down its top 100 songs
Today

Terms of use

© Copyright Radio New Zealand 2026